TOKYO REPORTS ADM. YAMAMOTO KILLED

FLOOD WATERS STILL RISING IN MID-WEST

Mississippi and Missouri Spread Over Larger Area As More Levees Break.

By The Associated Press

Spreading waters from the rampaging Mississippi and Missouri rivers brought added concern to southern Illinois and Missouri today as other smaller streams in six mid-west states rose relentlessly, causing further widespread destruction in the flood-stricken zone.

As the two big rivers joined early today some 10 miles northwest of the normal confluence near Alton, Ill., the number of persons driven from their homes by the disastrous floods was close to 100,000—as estimated by Red Cross officials and other observers.

Hundreds of civilian recruits—including high school boys and girls in some towns—labored throughout the night in towns regarded as in imminent danger, aiding engineers and soldiers in the struggle to hold back the surging waters.

80,000 Homeless

The Red Cross office at St. Louis said that in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma, more than 80,000 were homeless, while in Indiana official and unofficial observers estimated 12,000 were forced to flee. The number left homeless in Kansas, the sixth state affected by the flood, was not calculated.

While thousands of farm lands were inundated in the six states and damage to crops was estimated at millions of dollars, there was a degree of optimism concerning the crop situation expressed by crop experts in Chicago.

They said the most serious aspect of the flood situation as it applied to the nation's food supply concerned corn, planting of which has been delayed by the floods. But, they said, it was considered possible that this loss of time would be made up by warm, sunny weather during the summer. They added that in the big crop area a late spring had delayed corn planting one or two weeks before farm lands were inundated. They also said that the danger exists in the fact that autumn frost may kill the crop before it is matured, because of the late plantings.

A loss of between 5 and 15 per cent of the oats crop in some states was indicated, the experts said, but they added that winter wheat in much of the southwest had not been touched by rain.

Missouri Breaks Levees

Late last night the Missouri river broke through weakened points along the channel and rushed northward across country in eastern St. Charles county (Mo.) to meet the overflow of the Mississippi near West Alton, Mo. Every levee was out along a 75-mile stretch from Augusta to St. Charles, which was considered in immediate danger.

At St. Louis, Lt. Col. W. F. Lawlor of the Army engineer's office revised the previous crest for the Mississippi upwards to 37 to 37.5 feet expected Sunday or Monday.

At Beardstown, Ill., the Illinois river reached 27.1 feet, an all-time peak.

In Indiana, the north half of Vincennes was threatened as the Wabash river early today topped 28 feet — the highest level in history. Cities on the Wabash, White, Mississinewa and St. Joseph rivers north of Terre Haute reported their flood danger diminishing as crests passed.

NO. 3 RATION BLANKS GO OUT TOMORROW

Application Forms Received at Postoffice Today.

Marion postoffice officials received supplies of application forms for No. 3 ration books this afternoon and began preparations for distribution of them Saturday.

Postmaster L. L. Lamborn said the shortage of help at the postoffice might complicate plans to deliver a form Saturday to each home served by the Marion office, but said every effort would be made to finish the job tomorrow. Extra effort will be made for Saturday distribution in view of the fact the applications were intended to be handed out before Thursday, Mr. Lamborn said.

The application forms should be filled out and turned in by June 1.

Amount Is Double Quota; Auction of Songs by Steam Shovel Chorus Features Meeting.

By BOB BYRD

One of the outstanding bond selling events in Marion county since the war began was staged at the Morral school last night when residents of the Morral area poured in enough cash and checks to buy war bonds with a maturity value of $20,000.

Given a $10,000 quota at the outset of the "buy a bomber campaign," the community centered its activities around last night's rally and turned in far more than its quota in a matter of a few hours.

"They really bought bonds," Carl E. Danner, chairman of the bomber campaign, declared as he congratulated the Morral area leaders on the work they had done. "Morral and the rural area nearby certainly has done more than its share."

The rally program consisted entirely of musical selection by the Marion Steam Shovel chorus, making its first public appearance, and a few talks on war bonds.

"Everybody knows what we're here for," Orville Griswold, master of Salt Rock Grange, declared in opening the meeting. Even as he started the session, typewriters of bond writers began clicking—the crowd didn't wait for the speeches and music before starting to write checks.

Songs Auctioned

However, there was plenty of business yet to be handled when Merle Lashey, director of the Shovel chorus, paused in his program and announced that the crowd could have its choice of four songs on an auction basis, the biggest war bond purchaser being entitled to name the song he wanted.

Someone bid $25 for one of the numbers, but this was quickly topped by a $1,000 bid for another.

As a hush fell over the auditorium to see if anyone would top that bid, R. E. White, president of the National City bank, who headed the group of bond writers at the rally, announced that W. W. Morral, who was unable to be present, had authorized him to make a bid of $10,000. The bidding stopped until "Love's Old Sweet Song," the number requested by Mr. White, was sung.

Nearly 100 Purchases

The chorus sang another group of numbers and then closed its program. The crowd lingered for nearly an hour longer, buying bonds of various denominations. About 95 persons made purchases.

After the crowd drifted away and the bond writers began packing up their equipment while others totaled up the busy evening's work, a checkup showed that sales credited to the rally amounted to $19,775. T. E. Thew and Forest Loudenslager, standing by to hear the total, looked at each other. Although both had bought heavily, they reached for their check books at almost the same instant and "split" the remaining amount needed to produce a $20,000 total.

Boys Start It

The formal period of bond buying, following the musical program, got off to an auspicious start when Don Loudenslager, 9, and his brother, Roy, 7, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Loudenslager and grandsons of A. J. Loudenslager, who is heading the rural phase of the bond campaign in Marion county for the duration, walked up with enough cash for a $25 bond. "These boys," Chairman Danner announced to the crowd, "sold a pet goat to get enough money to fill their stamps books in time to make their bond count on the bomber." The pet, "Billie," went on the auction block at the Marion Union Stock Yards last Monday and brought $8. They had "Billie" hitched to a wagon and drove him into the auction ring, stirring sufficient interest to run the bids higher than the usual amount goats bring at auction.

Midway in last night's musical program, before many of the bonds came in, one observer "clocked" the program and Chairman Danner announced the chorus "had earned" $483 a minute in war bonds during their program up to that time.

Those giving brief talks on war bonds in addition to Mr. Danner and Mr. Griswold were Wallace

SEAMAN FROM HERE MISSING IN ACTION

Wife and Parents of Howard Mann Notified.

Seamen First Class Howard Quinten Mann, 21, a gunner aboard a merchant transport ship, is missing in action, the Navy department, in telegrams received here Wednesday, informed his mother, Mrs. Murzy Mann of 529 Bartram avenue, and his wife, Mrs. Norma Mann of 179½ North Main street.

Seamen Mann left the Brooklyn, N. Y., Navy yard on March 1 on his first trip at sea. About a week later relatives received a letter dated March 4 and mailed from Chester, Pa. At that time he said the ship he had been assigned to dock at the Pennsylvania port for minor repairs. He also said he was expecting to start across the Atlantic ocean two days later. That was the last letter received from him.

Text of the Navy department's telegram received by the mother and wife follows: "The Navy department deeply regrets to inform you that your son (or husband), Howard Quinten Mann, seaman first class U. S. Naval reserve, is missing following action in the performance of his duty and in the service of his country. The department appreciates your great anxiety but details are not now available and delay in receipt thereof must necessarily be expected. To prevent possible aid to our enemies please do not divulge the name of his ship." Signed, Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of Navy personnel.

Seaman Mann along with another brother, Gunner First Class James Mann and Charles Francis Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster of Bartram avenue, enlisted at the Marion Naval recruiting sub-station on Aug. 8, 1942. The three received their basic training at the Great Lakes, Ill., naval training station. Upon completion of his boot training, Howard was sent to gunnery school at Gulfport, Miss., for three months.

Charles, assigned to transport duty on the Atlantic, embarked on his third trans-oceanic voyage Wednesday morning. Because the

U. S. Planes Destroy 113 Axis Aircraft in One Day

Fighters and Bombers Carry Out Heavy Raids on Italy and Sardinia.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 22 — American fighters and bombers destroyed 113 enemy planes in widespread and devastating raids yesterday against Italy and Sardinia during what was officially called "one of the greatest victory days in the history of the strategic air force."

The strategical air force, under command of U. S. Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, is made up of U. S. heavy and medium and RAF medium bombers.

Allied headquarters spokesmen said that, in a swift hit and run sweep over northwestern Sardinia, P-38 Lightnings, outfitted as fighter-bombers, dropped three bombs on a dam 10 miles east of Sassari nead the gulf of Asinara. Results were not announced.

Aircraft of a half dozen types participated in the whirlwind aerial action in which 91 axis planes were shattered on the ground and 22 axis pilots engaged in air combat were sent crashing in flames.

The allied communique announced that seven of the planes shot down were Merseburg-323s, the huge German transports which are capable of carrying 120 men each or about 10 tons of freight.

The roll call of enemy aerial disaster thus was brought to 186 planes in two days. Allied aircraft destroyed 73 axis planes aloft or on the ground the day before in similar heavy smashes at Italian Mediterranean bases.

The RAF and the U.S.A.A.F. disclosed they had destroyed 5,172 axis planes in air combats in the Mediterranean area between the entrance of Italy into the war on June 10, 1940, and the collapse of axis resistance in Tunisia this month.

One American plane was lost in the destruction of the 113 enemy planes yesterday.

REPORT DUE ON STRATEGY

Roosevelt and Churchill To Receive Plans from Chiefs of Staff.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 22—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the British-American chiefs of staff would submit some preliminary recommendations tonight to him and Prime Minister Churchill and he said probably final decisions on them would be made next week.

At the same time, the Chief Executive told a press conference it is absolutely true that a large majority of American forces outside the United States are in the Pacific.

The British prime minister had mentioned that in a speech to congress Wednesday, and the President said it is particularly true of the Army and Navy. About half of our air force is in the Pacific, he asserted.

Mr. Roosevelt also issued a statement hailing National Maritime Day tomorrow. Paying tribute to the men who sail and build the merchant vessels, he told reporters that they were helping to maintain a ring that is slowly and surely being closed around the axis powers.

Asked if he could give a progress report on his conferences with the prime minister, the President replied that so far most of the work has been done by the combined chiefs of staffs—the top

Week of Dry Weather Needed To Save Corn Crop in Ohio This Summer

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, May 22 — Ohio needs an immediate week or two of rain-free weather to assure a corn crop this year, USDA war board chairmen from all parts of the state believe.

Unless clear weather prevails soon, the county representatives announced at a statewide meeting here yesterday, the corn crop may be delayed to such an extent that an early frost would ruin it.

The Ohio crop picture, threshed from reports made at the session, indicated a serious shortage of seed potatotes among small growers and victory gardeners; oats planting anywhere from 20 to 90 per cent normal; much alfalfa destroyed by the heavy winter freezes; pastures excellent and dairy herds prospering; much wheat lost due to hard winter, but surviving crop is picking up; soybeans generally not planted, but will be used in fields where rains delayed oats planting.

Here's what some of the representatives, from scattered parts of the state, had to say:

Harry Donohoo, AAA field man from Franklin and eight neighboring counties: "Corn will be all right if rain stops now. Oats prospect best in years. There's a shortage of wheat and rye straw used in paper making."

E. H. Fulmer, Lorain county war board chairman: "Only a third of our oats planted, and it's doubtful if any more will be. The land will be used for soybeans and corn. Wheat is improving, but much was lost due to heavy winter. Not too many vegetables being planted, because of rain and labor shortages, and vegetables generally our second most important crop. Seed potatoes are scarce."

Victor Logan, Trumbull county war board chairman: "Meadows are above average, pastures are good and milk production is up. Corn plowing has been retarded, but if fields dry off it will be all right. Twenty per cent of oats planted, but not much more will be."

Robert E. Finley, Huron county war board chairman: "About 50 to 70 per cent of the oats has been planted. Some alfalfa came through the winter in good shape, but some froze. Pastures are good, and wheat is picking up."

The representatives said late planting of corn, due to heavy rains, had caused a big demand for quick-maturing varieties of seed, creating a [illegible]

RAF MOSQUITO BOMBERS JAB BERLIN AGAIN

Others Blast Nazi Munitions Plants in Ruhr; London Free of Attack.

By The Associated Press

A sleep-torturing "war of nerves" between London and Berlin, involving populations of 13,000,000, appeared under way today in a new phase of the great air struggle over Europe.

For the second successive night—the fifth time since May 13—speedy RAF Mosquito bombers jabbed at Berlin, while London underwent its fifth straight after-dark alarm.

No bombs fell on the British capital, however, and the German high command reported only "ineffective nuisance attacks" over the reich without mentioning the thrust at Berlin.

Other RAF bombers and fighters, carrying the allied aerial offensive against the continent into its ninth night in a row, struck at Nazi war foundries, trains, barges, canal jetties and motor transport in occupied France and Germany and laid mines in enemy waters.

Among the targets announced by the British air ministry were the German U-boat base at Bremen and the munitions center of Essen, home of the giant Krupps works.

On the invasion-jittery southern flank of Hitler's Europe, U. S. Flying Fortresses delivered a fiery assault on the Italian airdrome at Grosseto, 90 miles north of Rome, and other allied planes attacked stepping-stone islands in the Mediterranean including Sardinia and Pantelleria.

RAF Over Berlin Second Night in Row

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 21—Mosquito bombers of the RAF bombed Berlin last night for the second successive night and the fifth time since May 13, it was announced today.

Simultaneously other British bombers and fighters struck at enemy industries and communications at widespread places in both France and Germany, including Bremen and Essen.

Mines also were laid in enemy waters, an air ministry communique said.

Despite the scope of the operations, all the RAF planes except one returned safely.

The Berlin radio acknowledged that British planes had been over Germany again but described them as "ineffective nuisance attacks."

Near Bremen, the announcement said, one speedy Mosquito set fire to a factory with cannon shells, shot up a freight yard and strafed a train, bringing it to a halt.

Meanwhile, RAF Mosquito pilots at one Mosquito intruder base expressed the opinion the Germans were keeping the mass of their bombers at home partly because of the nervous strain imposed upon the Nazi air force by the constant Mosquito intruder raids.

Bed of Prize Tulips Stolen During Night

What was a bed of prize tulips yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Harruff of 565 Davids street, is just another patch of ground today—the tulips are gone — picked some time during the night. Whoever took them were careful to pick nice long stems, Mrs. Harruff said regretfully today.

The flowers had been carefully chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Harruff and this year were unusually large and beautiful in color. The family did not pick any of the flowers as they wanted their neighbors and those passing on the street to share their enjoyment of them. "We hope whoever got them will enjoy them as much as we did," Mrs. Harruff said.

KISKA FACES U. S. BLOCKADE

Fall of Attu Will Place Stronger Jap Garrison In Serious Position.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—The Japanese base on Kiska island was threatened with complete blockade today as a result of the imminent collapse of enemy resistance on Attu.

Authorities said the fall of Attu, westernmost of the Aleutians, could come in a matter of hours and was expected within the next day or so at the latest. Enemy forces are bottled up around Chichagof harbor at the island's northeastern extremity.

They were understood to hold some important heights in that area but they have been under attack since early yesterday by ground troops and warships, and, weather permitting, by bombers also. Their situation was considered hopeless.

The Japanese on Kiska could only look forward to the same fate, although it may befall them much more slowly and only after the noose of blockading ships and planes has been drawn tight around the bleak and barren American island they have held since last June.

Kiska is 172 nautical miles

CHIEF OF JAP NAVY DIES IN PLANE CRASH

Japanese Radio Says He Died While Directing Action on War Front.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21 — The Tokyo radio announced today that Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander in chief of the combined Japanese fleet, who boasted he would dictate peace terms in the White House, was killed "on the very front lines of the south" while directing operations against allied naval forces from an airplane.

The emotional Japanese broadcasts on the admiral's death, recorded by The Associated Press and the federal communications commission did not disclose exactly where Yamamoto met his death, but said it occurred in April while he was "engaged in combat with the enemy."

Presumably the "very front lines of the south" referred to the waters north of Australia, in the New Guinea or Solomon islands area where there have been frequent naval encounters.

Yamamoto was possessed of a consuming hatred of the United States, acquired in his youth when his father told him of the "barbarians" who had come in their black ships, broken down the doors of Japan, threatened the son of heaven, trampled upon ancient customs demanded indemnities * * *."

His military training started at the age of six, but he later switched to the navy because he said he wanted to "return Commodore Perry's visit."

Made Boast Early

A Domei dispatch broadcast by the Tokyo radio after Pearl Harbor quoted him as writing: "Any time war breaks out between Japan and the United States, I shall not be content merely to capture Guam and the Philippines and occupy Hawaii and San Francisco. I am looking forward to dictating peace to the United States in the White House at Washington." Yamamoto spoke English fluently.

It was Yamamoto who planned the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor which set off the Pacific war and Japanese Navy Minister Shigetaro Shimada paid tribute to this trickery today as an operation "which amazed the world."

The Tokyo broadcasts said Emperor Hirohito had bestowed posthumously on Yamahoto the rank of fleet admiral and had decreed a state funeral for him. The emperor decorated him with the grand order of the chyrsanthemum and the first order of the golden kite.

Navy Minister Shimada said Yamamoto had "made Japan's position in the greater East Asia war unshakeable and impregnable" and asserted his services to Japan "will go down in history and will be remembered forever by every Japanese."

Yamamoto was Japan's foremost advocate of combined sea and air power and was known as one of the most able naval strategists in the empire.

Wrecked Parley

As spokesman for the Tokyo naval command he torpedoed the London naval conference of 1934, smashing the whole structure of naval limitations and ending the building truce that gave the Pacific ocean two decades of peace.

A terse communique issued by Japanese imperial headquarters said Admiral Mineichi Koga had been named Yamamoto's successor, and "already was in command." Koga formerly was commander of the Japanese fleet in Chinese waters.

Yamamoto had served as commander-in-chief of the combined fleet since Aug. 30, 1939. He was 59.

He previously had served as vice minister of naval affairs and as chief of general staff for the naval air force.

FCC monitors who heard the Tokyo broadcast said the announcer appeared overcome with the import of the news and that his voice was choked with emotion as he finished reading the communique reporting Yamamoto's death.

Yamamoto, whose name means "base of a mountain" received

Lucy's Telling This All Over Town!

It all started at a little get-together at my house a few weeks ago. Just a "tea and sandwiches" affair.

Most everyone remarked how good the sandwiches tasted. But Lucy wasn't satisfied with that, she wanted to know how I made them. And when I told her she said, "there must be some other secret besides what you put in them, 'cause mine never taste so good."

That's when I told her I made them with Omar Bread—the same bread I use at every meal. "Omar Bread" she said. "I didn't know there could be such a marvelous difference. I must try it."

Evidently, Lucy did try Omar too. Because now most every time I see her she talks about Omar Bread and how good it is and how it makes such grand toast and such . . . And, of course, I can't blame her for her enthusiasm. Omar Bread is good eating. I've known it for a long time . . . Have you tried it?

HY-SCORE BAKING METHOD GUARDS OMAR'S GOODNESS

CRUST. Golden-brown. Smooth and soft.
TEXTURE. Fully-developed cell structure. Cake-like appearance.
FLAVOR. Fresh, wholesome, wheaty aroma and a delightful taste that everyone enjoys.
FOOD VALUE. 99% digestible. An unexcelled source of lasting energy.
VITAMINS AND MINERALS. Enriched with Vitamin B_1, Niacin and Iron in food form for nerve health, good digestion and good blood.
FRESHNESS. Out-of-the-Oven freshness that brings out the best in good bread.

How does the bread you are now using compare with Omar on these important qualities?

CRAWFORD CO. BLACKOUT IS CALLED SUCCESS

Slight Mixup Brings Lights on Ahead of Time at Bucyrus.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS May 21 — Aside from a mixup in signals which turned Bucyrus lights on 10 minutes ahead of schedule the second district blackout here Wednesday night was called a success by local Civilian Defense heads. Commander R. L. Hertzer reported that 350 CD workers were on duty. Eight violations were handled he reported.

The mixup in signals resulted on the signal permitting traffic to resume and for pedestrians to continue to their destinations. All lights were turned on at the sounding of this signal instead of waiting for the "all-clear" about 10 minutes later which was indicated by the turning on of street lights.

OHIO FLIER WOUNDED IN PACIFIC AIR BATTLE

Girard Lieutenant Escapes With Minor Injuries.

(The following story was written by Sergeant Gordon A. Growden of Kalamazoo, Mich., a Marine Corps combat correspondent and distributed by The Associated Press.)

GUADALCANAL, May 5—(Delayed)—Lieut. Howard K. Windfield, U.S.M.C., of Girard, O., escaped with minor injuries April 7 when his Grumman fighter was hit in the cockpit by a shell while engaged with the enemy.

Coming in over the channel between Florida and Guadalcanal islands, they were attacked by the Marine, Navy and Army fliers.

It was during a dog-fight with a Jap Zero that Lieutenant Windfield received the hit in the cockpit. Just prior to that a shell from the Zero broke the glass in the cockpit hood and another pierced the tip of his propeller blade.

Lieutenant Windfield's squadron accounted for 17 of the enemy in which are included the seven shot down by Lieutenant James E. Swett, U.S.M.C., of San Mateo, Calif.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

AND CHILDREN, TOO

Editor of The Star: To Mr. gardener: I have been reading your letter about quarantining dogs. Someone also suggests that cats be included, because they get around too.

Well, I suggest they include some children that I know, for they are surely all over our garden and yard too.

I like children and have two of my own, but they do not get on other people's property that we know of.

Some will think I am a grouch. Maybe I am, but I still don't like children, dogs or cats all over my garden and flowers.

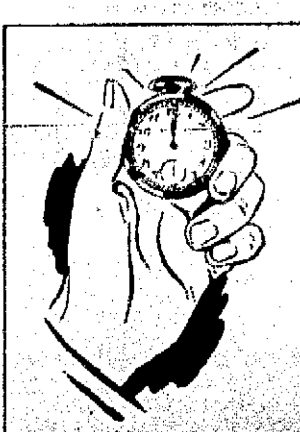
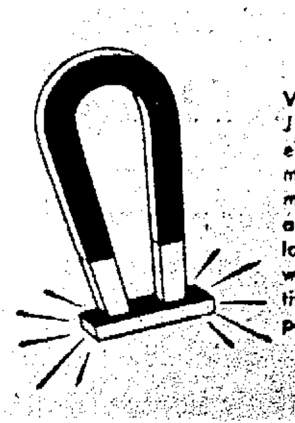
Your speedometer doesn't tell the truth, today

You can put as much as 200 miles of wear on your motor before you drive two blocks, tomorrow morning*
Guard against unnecessary "START-UP" DAMAGE... Switch to V. E. P. Alloyed-Oil

NOW THAT YOUR CAR stands idle longer, ordinary oil has additional time to drain down from or dry off of cylinder walls and pistons, leaving them without effective lubrication when you start your motor. While that oil's getting back on the job, real damage can be done.



*THERE CAN BE AS MUCH WEAR on that motor in the first minute, according to expert opinion, as there'd be in up to 200 miles of normal "warmed up" driving. And with repair parts and good mechanics so hard to find, that's wear you can't afford, today.



V.E.P. STAYS ON THE JOB. This entirely new, entirely different oil has a magnetic-like action which makes it cling to cylinder and piston walls for prolonged periods, even for weeks. You have effective lubrication before you press the starter button.
YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF to get this protection against "start-up" damage... and also protection against sludge, carbon, varnish (which are encouraged by today's shorter trips, lower driving speeds). See your Marathon man, switch to V. E. P. Alloyed-Oil, today.

TWO MEN HUNTED IN KENTON BREAK

Prisoners, One from LaRue, Break Lock and Flee.

KENTON, O., May 21—Sheriff Randall R. Clark today called upon the state's law enforcement officials for aid in seeking Leonard Cox, 24, Kenton; and Howard Mitchell, 18, LaRue, who escaped early Thursday from the Hardin county jail.

Cox was held for the recent burglary of the Charles Decker store at Jumbo, west of Kenton; and Mitchell, was held for possible induction into the U. S. army in preference to prosecution in robbery of a Kenton taxi driver near Hepburn a few weeks ago.

Cox and Mitchell tore a bunk from the wall of the jail and used the steel support to break a hasp from the cellblock door, then gouged a hole 18 inches square in the masonry at east side of the jail. They were not missed until this morning when Sheriff and Mrs. Clark prepared to give them their breakfast.

The second similar jailbreak there this spring caused Sheriff Clark to announce that he again would appear before the county commissioners and insist that efforts be made to strengthen the jail against escape attempts.

To date since Sheriff and Mrs. Clark have been at the jail, eight of the collapsible bunks have been torn from the wall and their supporting braces used to attempt escapes, it was reported.

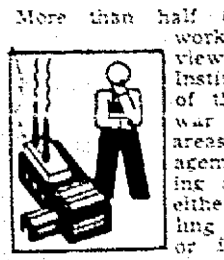
Workers in War Plants See Ways for Increasing Production, Survey Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 21—While workers in war plants throughout the country think the management of their factories is on the whole satisfactory, nevertheless many are convinced that much inefficiency exists on the part of management and this inefficiency is holding back production.



More than half of the war workers interviewed by the Institute in five of the principal war production areas think management is making mistakes either in handling production or in handling men. If these mistakes were rectified, the war factories would, in the opinion of the workers, be able to produce an average of 20 per cent more than they are now producing.

The survey was undertaken as a sidelight on the problem of manpower. As more and more men are drafted into the armed forces, industry will either have to rely on hiring new labor from a dwindling supply, or on getting more production per man out of the present labor force.

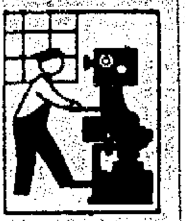
To sound the ideas of the war workers themselves on the question of plant efficiency, interviewers talked to such workers in New England, the Philadelphia-Baltimore area, the Buffalo-Cleveland area, the Detroit area, and in California. They were asked:

"What do you think is the greatest mistake that your company makes?"

The results follow:

1. Poor planning in production, lack of coordination between departments, failure to supply materials on time	13%
2. Poor employer-employee relations, no interest taken in employes or their problems, failure to profit by suggestions and ideas of the workers	8%
3. Unfair wages, lack of proper pay-scale for different types of work, lack of incentive payments for better work	6%
4. Wrong types hired for certain jobs, workers not properly trained, jobs not suitable to abilities of workers	6%
5. Bosses too lenient, too much loafing permitted, too many workers sitting around doing nothing	5%
6. Lack of competent supervisors, men in key jobs who don't know their business	4%
7. No modern equipment, slow in improving methods or standardizing products	3%
Miscellaneous	9%
No important mistakes made	46%

It is interesting to note that complaints about wages do not seem to rank as important in the minds of workers as do planning and coordination, and worker-management relations.



When workers were asked how much more the company could produce if the conditions complained of were corrected, as many as 27 per cent said production could be increased by one-third to one-half or more. The average estimate, however, was one-fifth.

While the amount of loafing is not singled out as a major drawback to production, nevertheless the survey found that many workers see evidence of loafing in their plants, and are in favor of drastic measures to stop it.

"Do you find many people in your plant loaf on the job?"

Yes	40%
No	55
Don't know	5

"If you were in charge what would you do about this?"

The most frequent suggestions were, in order, as follows:

Fire them; have more bosses to check up on them; see that they get more work; try to find out the reasons for loafing; dock their wages.

California's first legislature, which met in San Jose in 1894, became known as the "Legislature of a Thousand Drinks" for its adjournment celebration.

DOUBTS SENATE CAN ADJOURN BY MAY 28

Upper Chamber Still Has Much Work on Program.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21—Frank E. Whittemore, majority leader in the Ohio senate, expressed doubt today the upper chamber could complete work by May 28 as recommended by house Republicans.

Rep. William H. Deddens, house majority leader, introduced a resolution yesterday calling for the legislature to conclude its business by May 28 and adjourn sine die June 8.

"I hope we can, but it is doubtful," said Whittemore of the proposal.

Deddens introduced his resolution after the senate finance committee recommended passage of the house-approved biennial appropriation bill, major business item on the assembly's calendar.

The senate was expected to take up the appropriation measure Tuesday. Following passage, it must be returned to the house for concurrence in amendments.

The bill appropriates $366,706,328 for 1943-44 operations. The amount is $1,020,593 under the sum requested by the governor's office, although the senate finance committee added $2,245,686 to the total approved by the house.

The increases included $400,000 each for state parks and purchase of the buildings occupied by the bureau of unemployment compensation here; $285,000 for post-war construction of a new science building at Wilberforce university; $250,000 more for state and local civilian defense, and $218,000 to increase pay of the Ohio State guard.

Also coming up for action next week is a resolution asking State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to submit to the house a sworn statement "of the gross amounts received by him or his agent from assessments upon civil service employes" from 1941-43.

The resolution, offered by Rep. John R. Wood (R-Montgomery), said "it is generally known over Ohio that the auditor of state has levied a monthly political assessment on his employes mostly in classified civil service positions in all of these years although not in any campaign for reelection as auditor of state."

Gov. Bricker vetoed a bill aimed at relieving clerks in state liquor stores and operators of taverns from responsibility in sale of beer and liquor to minors.

CIRCLE MEETING HELD

Mrs. Leonard Young was an associate hostess when Mrs. H. L. Gettman of Mt. Vernon avenue entertained Circle No. 8 of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, last night. Mrs. A. T. Allen was in charge of a program and Mrs. Paul Bachman conducted the devotions. Mrs. Russell Dunlap read an article by Madame Chiang Kai-shek, "What Religion Means to Me." Mrs. French Crow, president of the society, gave a talk on post-war peace. Plans were made for a picnic in June. Mrs. Crow and Mrs. John Fuller were guests.

Last year South Dakota State college gave its 1,200 students a two-week recess to help in the harvest.

WARNING ABOUT GAS GOES TO MOTORISTS

Told To Apply for New Cards in Ample Time.

A warning was issued today by C. T. Holliday, chairman of Marion county rationing board, to all car owners holding books that expire early in June, that unless they apply for new supplemental cards they face a period during which they will be unable to buy gasoline.

Bookholders are urged by Mr. Holliday to check the expiration date carefully. Only those which expire in June need apply for new supplemental cards at this time. Since the dates of the books are varied, some confusion and last minute rush can be avoided, but with approximately 4,000 more motorists to be supplied it will be impossible for the clerical staff to handle all the applications during the last week.

The clerks by working overtime were able to handle the last minute rush during the first period but since that time, new rules against extra hours make this impossible and delinquent bookholders may be forced to wait two weeks or more for supplies in June.

Holliday pointed out that the responsibility lies entirely with the car owners, who were warned last month that applications should be filed well in advance of the expiration date on the present book.

Application blanks may be obtained at any gasoline dealer, at most of the factories and at the ration board on East Center street.

The Churchill Touch

AS Prime Minister Churchill's service in this war comes into historic perspective, it is evident to all people concerned what a tremendous difference his personal touch has made in the conflict.

It must be evident to Germans and Italians, as well as to Americans. The Japanese and the Russians have been affected, although in different ways. Mr. Churchill, British minister, has established as much personal prestige as any dictator, including Hitler himself.

Primarily, his is the touch that helped to transform Great Britain from a state of despair and defeat after Dunkirk. Under him, Britain became a dynamic fighting nation that dared to challenge its enemies to do their worst because nothing could crush British spirit.

But more than that it is the touch that has lifted one of the most methodical and dreary of wars—a war brought about by mistakes that a few men like Mr. Churchill tried to avert—into the higher realm of inspirational endeavor. When Mr. Churchill speaks of blood, toil, sweat and tears, as he has so eloquently, there is no suggestion of sorrow but only grim and courageous determination.

Mr. Churchill, himself, would be last to claim that his leadership has been responsible for Britain's resurgence of spirit. That was a phenomenon of the British nation; he was a symbol. The essence of his service has been direction of a force that needed only direction to make it effective.

Americans have been among the beneficiaries of his leadership, as also have been the Russians, the French and all other sections of the United Nations. None of them, whatever they may think about Great Britain, would be situated as favorably as they are now if the British had not stood firm when their enemies were calling to strike the death blow in the summer of 1941.

It is no secret, even among those who dearly love to pick flaws in the British way of doing things, that the British prime minister speaks here to a receptive and enthusiastic audience. He confirms a national feeling, all too often dulled by awareness of the difficulties of making war, that when it's all said and done the Anglo-American partnership, together with the Russian effort, can't miss. While he actually has brought no new evidence to bear on the matter in his latest speech, morale here was never higher than it was when he had turned his last phrase Wednesday noon in the capitol.

Back Down the Hill Again

EXCEPT in name, Ohio is using eastern war time. The general assembly itself finally has bowed to the facts and reverted to the practice, if not the theory, of daylight saving. Dayton, only large city to give "slow time" a trial, seems on the verge of swinging over to the general practice.

If the assemblymen had taken a course in applied politics, money couldn't have bought the lesson they learned in this controversy. Not one of them ever will knowingly repeat the mistake many of them made on the time change bill of believing silence was consent. Rushed off their feet by rural clamor for slow time and failing to hear a corresponding clamor for the existing practice of daylight saving time, the legislators jumped to the conclusion that Ohioans were sick of daylight saving time.

As they know now, they were wrong. They marched up the hill and now they are marching back down the hill again. No particular damage was done, fortunately, and there's still the probability that if the difference had been recognized between daylight saving in summertime, when there's day light to be saved, had been separated in the legislation from daylight saving in winter, when Ohioans must send their kids to school in the dark, the state legislature still would be receiving congratulatory pats on the back.

Short Tale With a Long Moral

HIGHWAY HIGHLIGHTS, which is a little news clipping sheet published by National Highway Users conference, tells about the newest dodge for getting around OPA price ceilings on second-hand motor vehicles.

Their natural price, governed by continued demand in the face of dwindling supply, tends to be considerably higher than the OPA ceilings. So when a farm truck, for example, is offered for sale and the price has been bid up to the OPA ceiling, with bidding incentive still strong, they may put a cow in the truck and bid on the combination. Thus, an $800 truck with a $100 cow in it may sell for $1,200. "In Maryland," reports Highway Highlights, "they do it with hay rakes. By simply combining the sale of a motor vehicle with a hay rake, the seller . . . may get several hundred dollars more for his truck than the OPA law allows."

The moral is that the people in this country are smarter than anybody; at least no one ever seems to stay ahead of them very long.

News Behind the News

Churchill Promises To Congress Not All Some U. S. Leaders Wanted.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 21—Churchill's broad explanation of the strategy did not entirely satisfy complainants in congress. What the fairly wide group behind Senator Chandler's viewpoint has been trying to do is to induce the British to put a formidable army against Japan on the Burma line. They also wanted to draw out officially a British promise of full co-operation in running down the mikado.

Official quarters here have been disturbed for some months by Churchill's promise to demobilize some of the British military forces after we get Hitler, a speech which Anthony Eden tried to explain away unsuccessfully when he was in Washington. The new firm Churchill pronouncements stilled these fears successfully, but left the Burma line proposal unsettled. He is up against a difficult proposition there. The Australian Parliament recently extended the limit to which their draftees could fight. It now runs up almost to the equator in some areas where hitherto draftees could not even be sent off the Australian mainland. Their volunteers go anywhere.

Indian Army

The Indian Army runs nearly a million men, but most of these have been kept at home for protection against the Indians embarked on anti-British crusades, passive but occasionally bloody. This Indian Army could be put into the field if Gandhi, et al. would quiet down at home, and if adequate British officer leadership were furnished them. However, a large sea expeditionary force would have to be organized. The driblet army which the British pushed through the high mountains on the Burma border and into the jungle has been driven back almost to the border and is too weak to do anything.

Congressional critics really believe China will collapse and fall out of the war unless the Burma road is opened. A more general and equally authentic opinion in Washington still is that the Chinese may remain too weak to do anything under existing circumstances, but will be able to plod along until the Roosevelt-Churchill strategy contemplates crushing the Japs (increased aviation help is apparently forthcoming, as Churchill implied).

Politics beat the Ruml plan—administration politics. Mr. Roosevelt's threat of a veto may have carried some weight but the house Democrats were simply determined not to let the Republicans get any more credit than necessary for having pushed tax easement.

Leader Joe Martin, who made the Ruml plan Republican by adoption, picked up plenty of political hay on the proposition. One worker constituent in his district wrote significantly that he would save $56 of back debt to the government, and did not care what Henry Ford saved. A leading Democrat came up to Martin and told him the local Democratic club in his city had been discussing the Ruml plan, and one of the local leaders said:

"This fellow Martin is like the Roosevelt of 10 years ago. He wants to give us something." The Democrat tried to make out that the plan favored the rich, and succeeded in smearing any common popular intelligent understanding of the complex situation.

How It Would Work

The truth is the plan would have raised less taxes than now from the man whose income is declining (not many of them); more taxes from the man whose income is increasing (the bulk of war salaries); and do nothing for the man whose income has been the same the past two years—until he dies or his income does increase or decline. Then his back tax would be wiped out.

In some few isolated instances, a rich man would have been helped (Senator Byrd mentioned these in the debate) above the poor man but not in any general way. The truth remains that the Ruml plan was the only one proposed to put the country on pay-as-you-go without requiring some measure of double taxation for the current year.

Any compromise, therefore, is not likely to be effective. The man with an income of 100,000 (cited by the President) now pays around $70,000 in federal income tax, and a state tax, in addition. He obviously cannot pay much, if any, additional taxes on his earnings. To him any compromise would be a capital levy.

Lobbying Goes On As Usual

By Jack Stinnett

Washington Correspondent

THAT Mr. Monroe you've been reading about—the lobbyist who staged the super-dinners in the 'big red house on R street'—is eating alone now. Otherwise the lobbying industry, second largest in Washington, flourishes as usual.

Congress periodically turns the investigation spotlight on certain forms of lobbying but you needn't expect it to conduct an all-out war on a practice which has long been generally speaking an honorable handmaiden of politics.

Lobbying, in the broad sense of the term, rates next to government as an important business here.

The great bulk of it is carried on "above-board" by hundreds of organizations ranging from the Anti-Saloon league and the Anti-Steel Trap league to the National Association of Manufacturers and the Night Watchmen's association.

The big labor federations, the farm organizations, scores of trade associations, various religious, social welfare and war veterans groups have well staffed offices and seasoned legislative representatives to present their respective viewpoints to the country's lawmakers.

These representatives openly and frankly testify at hearings on pending legislation. They use radio, telegraph and mail to enlist congressional and public support. Usually there is little "undercover" about their contacts with congressmen and administrative officials. Even the so-called "pressure" groups frequently base their arguments for or against a particular piece of legislation upon alleged benefit or detriment to national welfare.

CONGRESSMEN may privately admit pressure lobbying has become a menace to good government but they see no way of eliminating it. They can't imagine congress voting to put rigid restrictions for example on "help the farmer" legislative activities of the Farm Bureau Federation or the National Grange.

Furthermore there is considerable lobbying within the government itself. Senators and representatives have been known to "lobby" in the administrative departments for jobs for friends and for the location of government projects in their home districts.

Another type of lobbyist here is the individual practitioner, usually a lawyer-politician, who serves a variety of clients. Some of these "lone-wolf" lobbyists are lavish entertainers with heavy expense accounts.

Congress occasionally puts the finger on the more spectacular operators. Back in 1935, a senate committee disclosed that a lobbyist for a steamship company, which had received ocean mail contracts from the government, ran up an expense account of around $224,000 a year for two years.

It was figured he spent an average of about $1,000 a day for the days he was in Washington. He maintained a year-round suite at a deluxe hotel frequently had government officials to dinner and was a heavy loser in after-dinner poker parties.

Advice About Meat

By The Associated Press

CAMP POLK, La.—Housewives, worried about conserving the family meat supply, are advised by Major Sidney J. Michael of the seventh armored division to learn how to cut meat as well as prepare it.

Major Michael conducts classes in meat cutting and preparation as a part of the training program of mess sergeants and cooks.

"We utilize everything edible," he said, "and that which cannot be prepared for the table is brought to some other use. Fats are converted into cooking oils, and used for seasoning in numerous instances.

"Crackling, the ancient Southern delight, is one result of careful preparation of pork rind, after the lard and fat has been removed.

"Chicken and beef have by-products which can be easily prepared in the kitchen.

"I recall those first days in Utah when, as a little girl, I seldom saw sugar or bread, and a bowl of rice with a little molasses for sweetening provided a fine meal," Mrs. Fage said.

"And there were no vitamin capsules, either."

Production Changes Test Public Morale

Battlefield Experience Dictates Many Sudden Shifts.

ONE of the government's toughest problems of public morale at the moment—a problem shared by industrial management—is to make sure that the American public understands what is behind seemingly inconsistent changes in production schedules.

Wherever war material is being produced, these changes have been starting rumors. One type of rumor, more damaging than most, is started when production seems to be falling off.

This has given rise to the false notion that the United States is getting so far ahead of its production schedules that it is making too much and must slow down. It also is behind the misleading impressions that so much war material has been produced that widespread resumption of civilian goods is imminent, or that management is too inefficient to maintain a proper production rate.

The truth of the matter is that war production is beginning to feel the impact of battlefield experience. It is no secret that airplane production in this country, previously calculated in terms of so many bombers and so many fighter planes, has been recalculated in terms of more bombers and fewer fighters. Battle experience has shown how much depends on the bombers to bring victory.

It also is well known that production of tanks had to be revised radically after battle conditions revealed certain faults in the first United States tanks to encounter enemy fire. Some kinds of ammunition will be in greater demand than others. Some types of ships will be needed more urgently than other types: submarine chasers, for instance, have been in greater demand than light cruisers.

"There are no constants in this war," Secretary of Navy Knox has explained.

"AUTOMOTIVE War Production," published by Automotive Council for War Production, explains in its current issue that automobile factories are now feeling the full effect of the new trend toward "selective output of war goods."

"The give-us-everything-you-can-make demand characterizing the first phase of the nation's war production effort now has given way to new scheduling procedures, which call for more of one item, less of another, depending on current strategical requirements," the magazine says.

Automotive workers have been baffled and harassed, it is pointed out, by sudden shifting of war's demands that have caused such seeming inconsistencies and inefficiencies as shutdowns of tank assembly lines, following by overtime work. In one instance, workers visiting an Army camp were told about shortages of equipment, then learned on their return that schedules for the same equipment at their own plant had been slackened.

"Inexplicable interruptions of work, compounded confusions of conflicting orders, unreasonable spells of idleness and boredom followed by equally unreasonable spurts of frantic action—all are unavoidable components of military life and are accepted as such," acknowledges "Automotive War Production."

The magazine continues with this explanation:

"War is always capricious, cruel and inconsiderate. Last fall, sports-loving workers in a midwestern city decided to forego their annual deer-hunting expedition in order to stick to their jobs of making shells. Then, on the very day that the hunting season opened, production of shells at this plant was brought to a standstill by one of those sudden changes of demand which, dictated by the exigencies of war, remain unexplained for strategic reasons. Though the effect on worker morale was disastrous, neither government nor management was to blame. This became apparent later, when the reasons for the change finally were disclosed."

THREE principal reasons are cited by "Automotive War Production" for changes in the automobile industry's war production schedules.

The first is sudden alterations in the design of military products which may affect only one production line, or extended to a plant or a network of cooperating factories—for a few hours, or perhaps months, depending on the nature and extent of the changes.

The second is lack of materials sufficient to maintain full production, which may be due to any one of the hundred of dislocations common in wartime. Transportation may break down, someone else may have prior claim on material, or there may be a shortage of some vital material.

The third reason is cut-backs or cancellations of schedules because materials or machines are more urgently needed for some other product.

"Despite such disconcerting changes," the magazine concludes, "the automotive industry is producing at the rate of nearly $1,000,000 an hour. And with the hope of maintaining and exceeding that productive rate, automotive management today is striving to maintain morale in the face of annoying disturbances. To the problems of manpower is now applied the same kind of cooperative fact-finding as has been brought to bear so successfully by the automotive industry upon problems involving methods, machines and materials used in war production."

"There's no plane, miss. That's just my heart beating."

Resettling Japs

Sheep To Be Given Privilege of Citizenship; Goats Will Be Kept in a Safe Place, However.

By DAMON RUNYON

I THINK it is a safe bet that all the Japanese who were evacuated from Pacific coast areas will be back in their old haunts after the war, including many of the notoriously disloyal, whether the coast wants them or not. The Japs had powerful financial and business and political connections in the prewar days that will easily be revived under the influence of peace.

Indeed, some persons on the Pacific coast profess to see in the present plan to break up the relocation centers in the west and to distribute many of the so-called "safe" [illegible] about the nation in places not hostile to them, a vague reflection of this former weight. Other persons think it as wise a solution of a difficult problem as could be reached because of the presence of American citizens in the centers.

These American citizens are Japanese born in the United States. They went to the centers of their own volition as a measure of safety to themselves. But the fact that American citizens, even though their blood traces back to a barbarous and treacherous peoples, are being held in restricted confinement camps as semi-prisoners is undoubtedly an incongruous situation in this free nation, especially as the American-born offspring of alien Germans and Italians have no such restrictions.

In most of the comment I have read on these Japanese who are American citizens I have found nothing but sympathy for their plight. Nearly all commentators, including myself, have pointed up the distinction between them and the alien Japanese and have stressed the fact that the majority of the citizens are probably loyal amid great disloyalty among the Japan-born.

HOWEVER, in propaganda being circulated to arouse pity for the Japanese in this nation generally, not only is this distinction overlooked, but it is made to appear that our people are being asked to hate all Japanese everywhere, which of course is untrue. The Japanese we ought to hate are those who beheaded our captured aviators and offer to pay a reward of 10,000 yen for any who may be captured in the future, presumably that they may suffer a similar fate.

It is my opinion this propaganda comes from representatives of the alien Japs in the centers rather than the American citizens there and that it is part of the political and other pressure that made it certain that the centers would be broken up and the inmates placed under more comfortable conditions. I am also inclined to think this may be a good thing.

The centers are the spawning places of riots and of disturbing rumors, probably untrue, of graft and official misconduct, and of enormous stores of food, and of strange privileges given the inmates, and of drinking and gambling and immorality. Many of our citizens deeply resent the idea of paying the Japs $6 per month. The centers are also the sources of uneasiness among officials of nearby communities.

I BELIEVE the plan is to keep the Japs known to be loyal to Japan in prison camps. The American citizens, or the Japs born in this country, who are eligible for military service, will be taken into the army to join some thousands of others already in our armed forces. The rest, men and women born here, and the Japan-born deemed "safe," will be scattered around. The office of war information has announced that thousands of the American citizens are already being moved into essential jobs, including war production.

They are being transferred to the middle west and the east, which so far from being concerned about the Japanese problems, are apparently not ever greatly concerned about the war with Japan, leaving both those worries to the Pacific coast. The war department says a total of about 9,000 of the estimated 70,000 Japanese who are American citizens will be taken into the army and that it will not oppose the return of the wives and families to the areas they formerly occupied in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and other coast cities.

This means, of course, they will return. Personally I cannot see how anyone can legally or morally protest the women folks and children of American soldiers going where they please. If a man is accounted worthy of serving the flag, he and his family are entitled to all the respect and privileges of any other man in uniform, regardless of his descent.

Only the future can disclose the wisdom of putting any Japanese whatever in uniform or in war production.

Never heard of so many new books in my life. Seems like everybody that can hold pen in hand is putting out his own diary or history of the war.

The boys in the thick of the fight sure will be behind times when they come back. It will be mighty interesting to them to read how the war was won.

It seems like if a man dips his foot in the Atlantic or Pacific he writes 480 pages on his experiences abroad. Every foreign correspondent writes one book and plans a second, but so many of his buddies are turning out books too that he spends the rest of his life just writing endorsements for same.

The only books that's really necessary are the garden, cook, ration, almanac and the Bible.

I'm not complaining, but it just seems sort of strange that in a country at war we've got time to write all these books and we've got time to read 'em. I can't even keep up with the newspapers.

Hitler Believed Ready for Final Blow at Russia

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Is Hitler preparing a last desperate fling to crush Russia?

One of the highly important points brought out by Prime Minister Churchill in his address before the joint session of congress was his prophecy the fuehrer was likely to make another all-out attempt against the Reds.

Certainly there are plenty of signs the Nazi chief is getting set for contingencies. Reports from Moscow today—as for many days past—show continuance of fierce attack and counter-attack in the vital sector just above the strategic Black-sea naval port of Novorossisk as the Bolshevists and Boche maneuver for advantage in what is one of the gateways to the Caucasus. The way Mr. Churchill put the situation is this:

"It may well be that a further trial of strength between the German and Russian armies is impending. Russia has already inflicted injuries upon the German military organism which will, I believe, prove ultimately mortal.

Ready for Gambler's Chance

"But there is little doubt that Hitler is reserving his supreme gambler's throw for a third attack to break the heart and spirit and destroy the armed forces of the mighty nation which he as already twice assaulted in vain. He will not succeed."

Had the prime minister seen fit to develop this point he might have given us some interesting "ifs" and "whens." The gambling Hitler is a great opportunist—he claims to work by divine intuition—and there are circumstances now which might deter him.

This column has expressed the view—and still believes in it—that the question of whether Hitler will attack Russia in a big way depends on how seriously he regards the threat of an allied invasion of France. If he thinks the allies aren't prepared to invade for some months, he might well take a chance and hurl everything he has against the Russians. That probably would represent his final big offensive before digging himself in for defense.

On the other hand, if he believes the allies are about to invade France, or even the Balkans, he would be bound to pause before committing himself to another Russian adventure which would call for employment of most of his resources.

Likely To Let Italy Fall

An allied assault on Italy might not deter him. As remarked in previous articles, he undoubtedly already has discounted the loss of Italy. An allied occupation of this little country, which is shut off from Germany by the Alps, wouldn't necessarily raise a threat of such immediate urgency that Hitler couldn't take a chance on attacking Russia.

A drive against Russia is the most logical move for the head Hun—provided he thinks he has time before an invasion overtakes him. Actually the trap is closing so fast and securely about the rat that he will be flinging himself against a fairly solid wall whatever direction he turns. Still, the time when rats fight hardest, and sometimes are most dangerous, is when they're cornered and hurt.

If Hitler decides to have another stab at Russia, he will move soon. Weather and ground already are suitable in the south, and fighting conditions are improving in the north.

The allies are to be congratulated on the death of Japanese Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander-in-chief of the entire Jap fleet if the Tokyo report is true. He was one of the most capable and forceful of the militaristic enemies of peace, and his removal from the scene is a victory for the United Nations. Maybe the death of Yamamoto saved him from facing an allied court martial after the war, for there are a lot of these barbarians who must answer charges. Certainly he won't dictate peace in Washington, as he boasted.

NEARLY 20,000 OUT IN CHRYSLER PLANTS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 21—The entire war effort of Chrysler Corporation was threatened today as upwards of 20,000 members of the UAW-CIO remained away from their jobs for a second day in the most serious work stoppage in Detroit since Pearl Harbor.

A company spokesman expressed fear the strikes, which closed three plants yesterday and disrupted production in a fourth, might spread to the huge Chrysler tank arsenal. The spokesman said all 85,000 Chrysler workers in the country might be affected in a few days.

Workers at the three plants walked out in protest over what UAW-CIO President R. J. Thomas described as "legitimate and serious grievances." Thomas said, however, the strikes were not authorized and added he believed "the leaders are making a mistake trying to adjust these grievances through strikes."

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler director of labor relations, wired Thomas yesterday requesting him to urge the men to return to work.

Though the CIO chief had issued no formal back-to-work order, Leo Lamotte, UAW Chrysler director, ordered the men to return to their job.

"I will have nothing to do with the grievances of these workers until they go back to work," Lamotte said.

southeast of Attu and 63 miles northwest of the American base on Amchitka. With Attu in American hands and American planes operating from the field which the Japanese had partly completed there, Kiska will be caught between two hostile bastions.

Estimates by competent authorities put the enemy force on Kiska at upwards of 10,000 men whereas there probably were only 2,000 to 3,300 on Attu.

Axis Radio Reports Japs Evacuating Attu

By The Associated Press

An axis-controlled Vichy broadcast reported today trapped Japanese forces "have begun to evacuate Attu" in the 11-day-old battle of the Aleutians, but American warships were believed standing guard to blast any attempt to escape by sea.

Washington quarters declared collapse of Japanese resistance was imminent—perhaps only a matter of hours—as survivors of the hard-hit enemy garrison were tightly bottled up at Chichagof harbor at the northeast tip of the island.

American military observers said that with the fall of Attu, the big Japanese base at Kiska, 196 miles to the east, faced a complete blockade by U. S. ships and planes.

On the southwest Pacific front, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced 21 Japanese planes attacked four allied points in New Guinea—inflicting minor damage at Douglas harbor, Milne bay, Dobodura and Port Moresby—as the enemy continued to show signs of aerial reinforcement.

More than 250 Japanese planes have been used in raiding allied New Guinea bases since last Friday.

U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators dropped 18 tons of bombs on the large enemy base at Rabaul, New Britain, in the third attack there this week, and other allied airmen hit the Japanese strongholds at Gasmata and Cape Gloucester, New Britain.

In Burma, the British command announced briefly that "patrol activity continues" on the Arakan front, along the Bay of Bengal, where the Japanese have been thrusting close to the frontier of India.

Bomber Total Now $249,764

Sales totaling $14,977.25 yesterday brought Marion county's official "bomber fund" total to $249,764.75, or nearly 77 per cent of the $325,000 needed by the end of the month to put the campaign over the top.

One of yesterday's boosts came from the Kiwanis club luncheon where another auction was held netting bonds with a maturity value of $3,200, bringing the club's total to $20,375. It had a $10,000 cash quota in the drive.

The Victory House on the courthouse lawn, staffed by volunteer women workers, reported sales totaling $1,106.25 in bonds yesterday and $71.40 in stamps. Figures for other days this week are Monday, $2,118.75 in bonds, $79.85 in stamps; Tuesday, $431.25 in bonds, $33.65 in stamps; Wednesday, $937.50 in bonds, $37.25 in stamps.

Green Camp Set for Sunday Auction

GREEN CAMP — Plans and arrangements were being completed today for the public sale, receipts to be paid in war bonds and stamps, to be held Sunday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock.

George Reynolds, chairman of the bomber campaign in the Green Camp area, and his assistants have been contacting farmers and other folk in the community soliciting their aid in the sale. Judging from the volume of hogs, pigs, cows, calves, poultry, sheep, lambs, farm machinery, household goods and miscellaneous items that have been promised to be on display, several hundred dollars should be added to the bomber fund.

The Green Camp area had a quota of $8,000 to raise toward the purchase of "The Spirit of Marion County, Ohio." Thus far more than $12,000 in war bonds and stamps have been purchased.

Mr. Reynolds has secured several livestock pens for patrons to use in displaying animals. The first come policy will be followed in regards to use of the pens. Other animals will be sold from trucks or trailers.

Mill street, immediately south the community band stand, will be closed to traffic Saturday afternoon to afford ample time and space for display of sale articles.

Mr. Reynolds announced that L. M. Wickersham has volunteered his services and will be in charge of the sale.

MORE PINTS SOUGHT FOR LIQUOR RATIONING

COLUMBUS, O., May 21—In preparation for the June 1 package liquor rationing program, the state liquor department is pressing distillers for the maximum available quantity of cases of pints, Director Don A. Fisher said today.

"The pint is the ideal bottle size for rationing," Fisher explained. "We have been able to get a substantial volume of our liquor in pints and are seeking more."

Unofficial sources predict that the initial ration allowance will be one pint per person over a two-week period.

Fisher said virtually all distillers have swung from quarts to fifths "simply to make their supply reach more persons." The fifth represents one-fifth gallon or four-fifths of a quart. As indicated on Ohio's liquor ration book, Fisher said, quarts and fifths will be treated as identical units for purchase record purposes.

Labor Union Enrolls 20 New Members

A class of 20 new members was obligated in a meeting of Roosevelt Lodge No. 1281, International Association of Machinists, A. F. of L. affiliate, last night at the Central Labor hall. It was reported that the Buy a Bomber War Bond drive would top the lodges quota of $5,000 by the time the campaign closed.

J. L. Kohler of Springfield conducted a demonstration of a loud speaker for the hall and later, at a meeting of the board of trustees, it was voted to purchase the equipment. Merle Chesr, chaplain conducted a prayer service for Howard Mann, reported missing in action. His sisters, Mrs. Inez Richardson and Mrs. Lucille Huddle, are members of the lodge.

1,400 MORE MINERS LAY OFF IN OHIO

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., May 21—Fourteen hundred miners in two more coal mines refused today to work without a new contract as meetings, requested by union leaders in an effort to renew operations, failed to materialize.

The latest stoppages were in the Powhatan mine of the Powhatan Mining company, employing 1,030, and in the Florence mine of the Y. & O. Coal Co., said William Kennedy, board members of District 6, United Mine Workers.

Yesterday 625 men at Willow Grove and 550 at Dunglen laid down their tools.

Kennedy, urging the miners to return to work, last night asked presidents of the UMW locals at Willow Grove and Dunglen and their mine committees to arrange a meeting to consider a renewal of work, but today no meeting had been called.

Capital Skeptical of Tokyo Report

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—News of the death of Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto came as a surprise today to American naval men who said they were unaware of any sea-air combat in April sufficiently important to have claimed the attention of Japan's ranking officer.

No American sources confirmed the death and reaction ranged from calm expressions of interest to frankly spetical comment on Tokyo's account of how the admiral met his fate.

Some authorities suggested he might not have been present at all. They said he had been identified with so many Japanese reverses in the last year that he might have committed hara-kira or he might have died a natural death or some organic ailment.

In either of the latter two cases, it was said, the Japanese high command would almost certainly have dressed up the navy leader's demise with fitting circumstances and glowing tribute in order to maintain his stature as a hero before the Japanese people.

LEWIS LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21—United Mine Workers officials announced today that UMW President John L. Lewis would go to Washington during the day and that headquarters of the union in New York would be closed immediately.

There was no immediate explanation of the move nor was there any indication that Lewis' trip to Washington meant that he might have agreed to consult with the war labor board which he has ignored since the soft coal wage dispute was referred to it several weeks ago.

UMW officials also said that UMW Vice President John O'Leary was leaving for Pittsburgh, but did not elaborate. Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, will remain in New York along with the union's anthracite negotiating committee which is currently engaged in collective bargaining talks with the hard coal operators.

Ever since the war labor board denounced Lewis for his failure to attend WLB panel hearings on the soft coal dispute, the UMW chief has withheld comment and given no indication of his next move other than to extend an original 15-day truce ending last Tuesday until May 31.

The extension of the truce was made at the request of Fuels Administrator Ickes, named by President Roosevelt to operate the nation's hard coal mines during the conflict between union and operators over wage and hour adjustments.

GAS SHORTAGE HALTS FARM WORK IN EAST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21 — Washington concerned itself today over activity within labor circles, gas and liquor shortages and tax and other money matters.

For the average person, at least in the east, the prospect of doing more walking now or less eating later loomed as a growing gasolin shortage threatened food production in several seaboard states and turned speculative federal eyes on the T-rations of commercial transportation vehicles.

Despite driving bans and other measures, the "all-time low" in eastern supplies appeared to be growing worse instead of better, aggravated by midwestern flood damage to a main oil supply line from the southwest.

Tractors were halted on thousands of farms, many filling stations closed, and after the war food administration declared that unless quick relief was found some farm lands would not be planted this year, high government sources said the next step probably would be reduction of gasoline used by commercial vehicles—such as trucks, taxis and buses.

Another shortage appeared unlikely of immediate relief—liquor; war production board officials said that, despite pressure from liquor retailing groups for resumption of some whisky production, no steps to ease the liquor drouth could be expected before August at the earliest.

On Capitol Hill, a compromise on tax abatement ranging between 50 and 75 per cent of a year's levies was predicted by some members as a joint conference committee sat down for its second attempt to unravel the house-senate snarl over pay-as-you-go revenue legislation.

At the same time the treasury was all set to start current collection of income taxes if congress could agree on a bill acceptable to the President. Both the bills approved by the two houses call for a withholding tax and there were indications that the two delegations were somewhat nearer agreement today.

Alfred died at Rock Springs, Wyo., while on a train which was bringing him to Ohio for a Christmas leave visit with friends and relatives. According to a member of the Mann family, Alfred died from injuries suffered while on submarine duty in the Pacific. He was stationed at the Mare Island submarine base.

Funeral services for Seaman Mann were held here Dec. 20 and burial was made in the Forest Glenn Memorial park.

sion had been admitted as evidence. Scanlon then introduced three depositions taken by the state at Canton, Ill., home of both Bevard and his pretty 29-year-old victim. The depositions were made by a member of the Canton police force, the police magistrate and a former neighbor of Bevard and Mrs. Reed.

The depositions all referred to a previous quarrel between Bevard and Mrs. Reed on June 12, 1942. At that time Bevard was arrested on an assault charge. On one other occasion he was taken into custody of Canton police on a charge of intoxication.

The assault charge, the depositions said, resulted from an attack on Mrs. Reed during which he struck her several times.

Recess Expected

At noon today it seemed probable that Judge C. U. Ahl, Crawford county common pleas judge who is hearing the case along with a jury composed of seven women and five men, would order the court adjourned until 9 a. m. Monday morning.

In that event the state will probably rest its case some time Monday morning. G. H. Hilborn of Tiro, attorney for Bevard, has not indicated how long the defense will require to present its case.

RETIREMENT OF GREEN LIKELY

Observers Predict Lewis Will Win Leadership of American Federation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—The expected "homecoming" of John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers to the American Federation of Labor foreshadows the early retirement of President William Green, competent observers of labor politics predicted today.

Two collateral effects also were foreseen:

A blow to the aspirations of Secretary - Treasurer George Meany to attain the AFL presidency, and the possible election of Lewis himself to that office.

Lewis is not heading back to the AFL to be a second stringer, labor circles agree. He is expected to be out front from the very beginning. He has some scores to settle with Green. More than any other individual, he helped Green into the AFL presidency. Green was a miner. But when Lewis organized the CIO, Green stood with the federation for the suspension of the miners and the other unions allied with them in the new organizing venture.

Lewis' only way to retaliate then was to get Green expelled from the United Mine Workers, which he did promptly. This left Green in an embarrassing position, until the Musicians' union came along with an honorary membership for him. Since then, he and Lewis have exchanged some harsh words.

Lewis forgets like an elephant. His time may come in October, when the annual federation convention and election takes place. If Green retires it will be done gracefully, perhaps on a pension. Few AFL controversies are fought on the open convention floor.

Lewis' return is fraught with political implications. Many believe he and his principal ally, William L. Hutcheson, the carpenters' president, have their eyes on the 1944 presidential campaign. It is an accepted fact that they will be in the Republican camp. Success there would restore Lewis to the White House guest list, a privilege he misses.

Green, at a press conference yesterday, declined to make any predictions about the executive council's actions on the miners' application for a charter. "It all depends," he said, "on how they work out these jurisdictional differences."

Those who know Lewis, however, say it is doubtful that he would have made any application in writing if its acceptance had not been assured in advance.

Expiration Date Of Blue Stamps Extended

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—To avert an end of the month buying rush, the office of price administration today extended for one week the expiration date of blue stamps G, H, and J in war ration book No. 2. They will be good through June 7.

OPA made the next three sets of blue stamps—K, L, and M—good beginning Monday, May 24, and extended their expiration date from the end of June to July 7.

Blue stamps G, H, and J which have been valid through May, and K, L, and M therefore will all be valid during a two-week overlap period from May 24 to June 7.

OPA pointed out sugar and coffee stamps would expire May 30 and 31, respectively, and cautioned shoppers against waiting to spend their stamps until May 31—Memorial day—when stores will be closed.

First grade pupils sang "How Are You," "Fat Robin Redbreast," "Cabbage Patch," "Star and the Moon," directed by Misses Maude Alter and Laura Lee.

"Lullaby," "My Dog," "Froggie Jim" and "Froggie Jill" were second grade vocal selections.

Third grade students presented "The Girl with the Cat," "Whistling Boy" and "Cherrie O."

Songs of the Allied Nations were chosen by students of the fourth grade. They were "May Day Carol," "In All the Country Round," "Summer is a Cumin'," "June Lady Bug," "The Mouse" and "Waltzing Matilda."

South American songs were selected by students of the fifth grade. They sang "Night on the Water" and "Chiapanecas."

Songs of American composers sung by sixth grade pupils brought the group participation to a close. They sang "Homeland," "To a Wild Rose," "Summertime," "Woolen Shoes" and "Water Bay," "God Bless Our Land" was sung by the choruses in unison.

Miss Dorothy Buckley was in charge of the program and Miss Molly Johnston and Miss Dorothy Brunner played accompaniments.

During this month $100 will be taken from the school fund and invested in a war bond. A Victory club was organized in the fall of the year to promote student interest in the school for the scrap collection. A $25 bond was purchased for the school at the end of the drive through the leadership of the club.

Marion Soldier With Unit Fixing Crashed Planes

Staff Sergeant Robert Levien, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Levien of 637 Mary street, is one of 17 members of a Mobile Repair Unit, stationed "somewhere in England."

A recent issue of The Stars and Stripes, the daily newspaper of the United States Armed Forces, carried an article describing the duties of one of the first units, of which Sgt. Levien is a member. Two illustrations accompanied the article and the condition of the Flying Fortresses which the crash crew rebuilds is clearly shown.

According to the article, the nearest unit is summoned as soon as an inspector has estimated and reported the extent of the damage of a plane which has been forced down.

In Crew of 17

This mobile unit which consists of 17 men, 11 soldiers and six technicians of the Lockheed Overseas Corp. starts immediately for the area designated. The crew travels in two huge trailers, two jeeps, a truck and a reconnaissance car. In one trailer they have their own power plant, lathes, power saws—everything that is needed for an almost complete overhaul of any plane. In the other are bunks, rations and a tiny kitchen. The truck carries heavy equipment.

The crew drives the vehicles under the wings of the plane and in a few minutes are at work. They travel from one crash job to another and live in the trailer unless they are fortunate enough to be near a hotel. At the time of the article, they had been traveling to various sections for three months. During that time they had seen no one from their base since an officer had come to pay them and give them rations.

Final touches are added to the plane and within two weeks it is ready to be tested and returned to active duty. At the completion of each job, the boys plant a kiss on the fuselage of the ship, which they feel will always be partly theirs, and as it takes off, they turn and say "That's that. Where's the next?"

More Crews Planned

More and more of these units are being organized and the officials hope to have individual crews which specialize in servicing in just one type of plane. At the present time the units are required to repair all types, makes and sizes.

Sgt. Levien graduated from Harding High school in 1936 and enlisted at Patterson Field, Dayton. Prior to his overseas assignment, he was enrolled at the Hamilton Propeller Co. at East Hartford, Conn., for an eight-week training course. Sgt. Levien was employed as an interior decorator with Amrine and Sons before his enlistment in October, 1941.

Ohioans Urged To Study Ration Blanks Carefully

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21 — Ohio residents have been urged to study carefully their application blanks for War Ration Book No. 3 before mailing them to distributing centers.

The blanks, through which consumers will register in the first all-mail distribution of ration books, will be mailed to consumers starting today.

H. T. Beckmann, district director of the office of price administration, said some blanks already have been released permaturely by small town post offices and many persons who had returned them had failed to sign their names or furnish other necessary data.

"We urge everybody to hold his application blank until he is certain he has filled it out properly," Beckmann said.

Indians Lose Two, Dropped To Third

Lowly Boston Red Sox Take Both Ends of Double Header.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 21—The Cleveland Indians squatted uncomfortable in third place today after a double defeat by the cellar-dwelling Boston Red Sox.

The Tribe's loss of the runner-up position occurred on the eve of an invasion by the league-leading New York Yankees. The Yankee series presents the prospect of a further drop down the ladder as only a game and a half separates the Red Sox from the fifth-place Detroit Tigers.

Jim Bagby, ace of the Indian mound staff, will seek his fifth victory in the series opener at the lakefront stadium tonight. Hank Borowy is the probable Yankee starter.

The Red Sox eked out a 10-inning 2 to 1 victory in the opener of yesterday's twin bill at League park and annexed the nightcap, 7 to 4.

In the latter contest Manager Lou Boudreau exhibited the length if not the strength of his staff by sending six hurlers to the mound. Pete Center didn't last the first inning and his successors included Vern Kennedy, Joe Heving, Ray Poat, Al Milnar and Mike Naymick.

Jack Salveson started the first game for the Indians but retired with a lame shoulder after pitching five innings and allowing five hits and one run. Allie Reynolds was charged with the defeat although he allowed only two singles in the remaining five heats. Johnny Peacock broke the 1 to 1 deadlock in the 10th when he singled John Lazor home.

Deacon Has Three Unhappy Days Ahead

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21—Bill McKechnie of the Reds looked forward with no pleasure today to four games in three days with the Brooklyn Bums—weather permitting—while others on the Cincinnati higher-ups toured Philadelphia looking for an outfielder.

Why McKechnie should look so glum, except on general principals, was not clear to Red camp-followers. They—not knowing the inner workings of the McKechnie mind—were inclined to figure the Reds should be in pretty good shape for the forthcoming bouts, since recent days have been no great strain on the Cincinnati pitching staff. There was no work yesterday against the Giants, for instance.

Bucky Walters, with two-and-two to his credit thus far, is down to open against the Dodgers today. Ray Starr will take a turn on Saturday, while Johnny Vander Meer and Elmer Riddle will appear in the double-header Sunday, according to present plans.

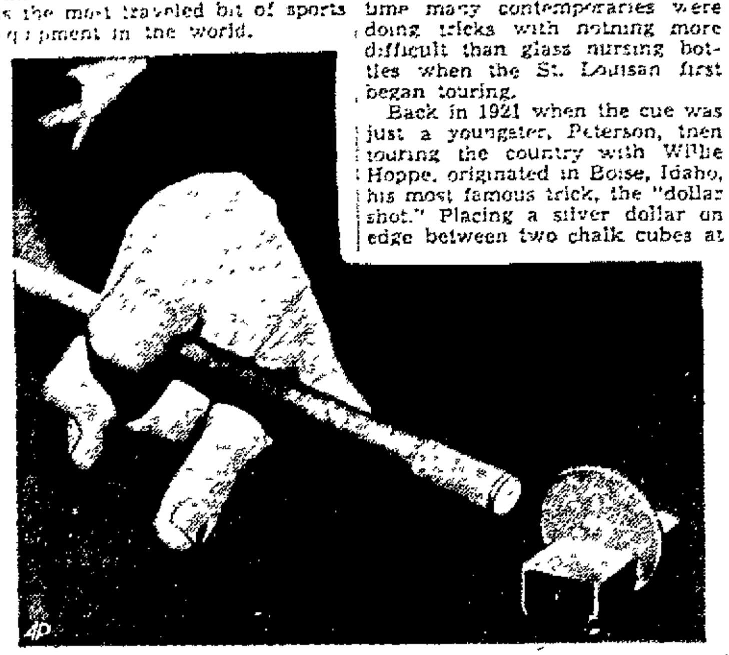
"Wandering Cue" Talks for Peterson

By KEN DAVIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS—A slender shaft of hardwood, glossed with the patina of much handling, probably is the most traveled bit of sports equipment in the world.



It's the billiard cue used by Charley Peterson, veteran ace of the trick shot artists. Charley has been at the business of amazing the billiard public for so long a time many contemporaries were doing tricks with nothing more difficult than glass nursing bottles when the St. Louisan first began touring.

Back in 1921 when the cue was just a youngster, Peterson, then touring the country with Willie Hoppe, originated in Boise, Idaho, his most famous trick, the "dollar shot." Placing a silver dollar on edge between two chalk cubes at one end of the table, Peterson cues the coin so it rolls to the table's other end, rebounds from the cushion and rolls back between the two cubes — without touching either cube.

Other shots nearly as amazing made that first trip so successful, Hoppe and Peterson repeated the tour annually for several years.

The wandering cue in 22 years of journeying has been in practically every United States city large enough to boast a billiard table. Annually it travels from Maine to California and from New Orleans to Minneapolis, sometimes venturing into Canada.

Annually, also, it tours the universities of the land—150 of them—in the clever hands of Peterson, who ranks as the best trick shot of them all.

Recently he announced he was awaiting orders to go to Alaska soon, and right now Peterson and his wandering cue may be showing the boys at Dutch Harbor his wizardry.

For many years the restless billiardist owned a parlor in St Louis, but gave up its management when his trips became so numerous he no longer could give it his attention.

NEW YORK, May 21—George Washington U. may cancel its 1943 football schedule, which would leave Washington depending on Maryland for its college football next fall. . . . Another kid who might be worth "importing" is Don Clayton of Fayetteville, N. BEAU JACK PUTS HIS LIGHTWEIGHT BELT IN JEOPARDY TONIGHT

Bob Montgomery, However, Isn't Given Much Chance To Win.

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 21—Bouncing Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery collide tonight for the world lightweight championship, and trying to pick the winner is like Aunt Emma making up her mind between the blue hat with the bouquet of bananas or the red one with the bird nest.

The Beau is a 5 to 11 choice among the better 49th Street betting shoppes in this 15-round tiff in Madison Square Garden. But when you add everything up, you're still no closer to the answer.

On recent form, the Jumping Jack, who was handed the New York version of the lightweight championship last December after Sammy Angott retired permanently for a couple of months, figures to make his first "defense" a happy celebration. He not only has cleaned up among the lightweights, but he moved in among the welters and walloped Fritzie Zivic and Henry Armstrong. But Bobcat Bob has had his artillery aimed at a lightweight title spot for a long time now, after five non-title tussles with 135-pound bosses and he's confident he'll hit the bulls-eye in this battle between two Negro swatters.

From all indications, 19,000 or 20,000 citizens are going to attend the scrap.

Positions Reshuffled in Association Race

By The Associated Press

A program of night double-headers brought a reshuffling of positions in the tight American association baseball league's pennant race today.

The Indianapolis Indians, their scheduled twin bill with Milwaukee postponed, held to the top spot, but the Kansas City Blues jumped from sixth to the second-place roost formerly held by the Columbus Red Birds.

The Birds divided victories with last place St. Paul and dropped into a tie for third with Milwaukee. Minneapolis' Millers and Toledo's Mud Hens also broke even, leaving the Millers in fifth place and the Mud Hens in sixth.

The race is so tight, however, that the Mud Hens are only one game behind the runner-up Blues.

Phills Shut Out Cubs Twice

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies not only are standing on their own feet these days, they are tramping on the toes of a lot of other clubs in the National league.

Here is what they did yesterday:

1. Shut out the Chicago Cubs in both ends of a doubleheader 3-0 and 2-0, allowing the Bruins just four hits in each game.

2. Made the Cubs' plight so distressing that Philip K. Wrigely, their multi-millionaire owner, personally announced settlement of the club's contract squabble with Lou Novikoff.

3. Rejected the Brooklyn Dodgers' offer of two players for second baseman Danny Murtaugh, thus causing the Dodgers to sell them pitcher Newt Kimball and send Alex Kampouris to Washington for cash in order to get under the 25-player limit.

4. Threatened the third-place standing of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The twin triumphs over the Cubs were achieved on superlative pitching by Charley Fuchs and Lefty Al Gerheauser, a pair of rookies.

This extended the Cubs' losing streak to nine games, miring them deep in the cellar.

The Phillies' winning string was stretched to five games and they moved within half a game of the Cardinals, who were at Brooklyn.

Tentative recommendations are expected to be made at a meeting tonight, he said, and these will be considered by the President and prime minister over the weekend. They will take them up next week, he said, and the kinks will be ironed out and a final decision made on them.

Speaking of the maritime program, Mr. Roosevelt said ship construction was going ahead exceedingly well, with the building exceeding sinkings and total output well ahead of what anyone expected a year ago.

He spoke of a process now underway of graduating slowly from Liberty ships to faster and better Victory ships, which he said would be used for commerce after the war.

Sophomores Entertain Edison Junior Class

Sophomores of Thomas E. Edison High school entertained members of the junior class at the annual sophomore-junior party Friday, May 14, in the school gym. Sophomore officers are: President, Grace Cyders; vice president, Mary Ann Fields; secretary, Robert Thaxton and treasurer, Gerald Kellogg. Class sponsors, Miss Trolla Klopenfenstein, Mrs. Everett Grigsby and Harold Runkle were in charge of arrangements

An amateur program featured with song and instrumental music was given by Donna Boone, Marilyn Sharf, Donna McClain, Grace Criger, Elaine Alexander, Florence Hayman, Joan Laubner, Mary McCaulley and Clara Edler, sophomore talent.

The gym was festive in red, white and blue decorations. Informal games and dancing furnished entertainment. Group singing was led by Grace Cyders with Marilyn Sharf at the piano. A scavenger hunt about the grounds preceding the program was won by a team of junior girls. Members of the winning group were June Holliday, Wilma Lee, Alice Marquis, Dorothy Bowman, Virginia Bain, Norma Duckwall, Bonnie Borland and Esther Markley.

Aside from the approximately 100 students attending, guests were J. E. Frew, principal, Harold Markin and Miss Maxine Baker, junior class sponsors and Everett Grigsby.

Farmer Jones and Rene LaBell Score Victories in Double Main-Go Matches

In two of the hardest fought wrestling matches ever staged on the same program here Farmer Jones blasted Steve Nenoff from the list of recent unbeatens and Rene LaBell, the wiry French-Canadian, repeated his previous triumph over Larry Kasaboski in the twin main-go matches featuring last night's Armory mat program.

Jones, the bewiskered pig raiser from deep in Arkansas, toyed with Nenoff at the start of their 90-minute match. But Nenoff, not content to string along in easy style, began to pull hair and by the time 24 minutes of the opener elapsed the Farmer had literally kicked the Birmingham, Ala., Greek all over the ring.

The fireworks started when Nenoff pulled the Farmer's hair and up to that time Nenoff had looked pretty good. Jones countered the hair pulling with a flurry of kicks which sent Nenoff reeling to the pad on several occasions and which ended with the Farmer applying a simple body press.

A self-strangle hold temporarily gave Nenoff revenge in the second fall which he won in five minutes. He repeated the hold at the start of the third fall and held it for three minutes before the Farmer broke away and immediately pinned Steve with a jack knife.

The other main-go was equally exciting with LaBell winning the opening fall with a pile driver and body press in 10 minutes. The match followed the pattern of the Jones-Nenoff scrape and Kasaboski won the second fall in two minutes using a variety of holds equally well.

A hard kick in the face which temporarily blinded Kasaboski provided LaBell with an easy victory in the third fall which lasted 13 minutes.

Johnny Vansky and Morris Shapiro battled for 19 minutes before Vansky won the 30-minute opener with a body slam and press.

TWO OHIO AIRMEN MEET FIERY DEATH IN CRASH

Among 12 Who Died in Chicago Plane Mishap.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 21 — Two Ohioans were among 12 men who met fiery death when a B24 bomber smashed into the world's largest illuminating gas storage tank here and set it ablaze.

The 500 foot-high tank, capable of storing 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas, burst into a roaring inferno and authorities expressed doubt that bodies in the wreckage ever would be found.

The Ohioans were: Second Lt. Frederick L. Dutt, student officer, son of E. O. Dutt Wadsworth, and Staff Sgt. Norman W. Yutzy of Canton, aerial gunner, son of Mrs. Bertha Yutzy of Garrett, Pa.

The four-engined Liberator bomber was out of Fort Worth, Tex., on a routine flight yesterday when witnesses said they saw it skim the office building of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Co. on the southwest side and plunge against the tank, which cost $2,000,000 when built in 1928.

Residents of nearest homes a quarter of a mile away said heat from the fire was so intense children had to be moved.

Wife of Sportsman Guilty of Manslaughter

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 21 — Mrs. Helen Aileen Randle, 31-year-old wife of a wealthy Washington and Annapolis sportsman, was under conviction of manslaughter today for the fatal shooting of Allen Willey, 17, in a case which her attorney said was "redolent with passion."

Mrs. Randle was found guilty last night by an all-male jury which deliberated for two hours and a quarter after hearing the attractive third wife of Ulmo S. Randle, 34, tearfully deny she had intentionally fired the shot which resulted in the death of the high school student.

The penalty for manslaughter is a prison term of from two to 10 years, or a fine not to exceed $500 or both.

During closing arguments, the defendant broke down while William Curran of the defense staff referred to epithets which the defense charged the Willey youth had applied to her before the shooting last Jan. 30 in the Randle home at fashionable Bay Ridge.

REDS BLAST GERMAN BARGES IN BLACK SEA

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 21—The movement of German self-propelled barges across the Black sea and attempts of a Nazi infantry force to fight its way through the Russian attack are northeast of Novorossisk have been smashed by Soviet artillery and planes, reports from the front said today.

There was no immediate indication whether the boats were attempting to bring more reinforcements to the axis troops now compressed into four districts in the Taman peninsula, or whether this marked the beginning of an axis attempt at an evacuation.

Four German infantry regiments attempted to storm the Red lines northwest of Novorossisk after laying down a heavy barrage, but were met with volleys of Soviet gunfire, the midnight war bulletin said, and thrown back with heavy losses.

Yamamoto's Death Deprives Japs of Top Naval Expert

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Foreign News Editor.

The death of Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, announced today by Tokyo, deprives Japan of her ablest naval leader. His imagination, audacity, readiness to adopt new methods and lack of scruple set him apart from the relatively robot-like mass of his colleagues.

If any man was responsible for the planning and execution of the Pearl Harbor attack, it was Yamamoto. He was the first Japanese commander, perhaps one of the first of any nationality, to grasp the possibilities of combined sea and air power.

He used this combination to such effect at Pearl Harbor and in the sinking of the Prince of Wales and Repulse off Malaya only three days later as to give the Japanese navy command of the western Pacific and Indian oceans through the first months of the war. Those two blows hamstrung the American and British navies in those seas for almost a year.

Of course, Yamamoto had almost unbelievable good luck.

His death in a sense is a vengeance for Pearl Harbor. It is interesting to speculate on the possibility that some 21-year-old American fighter pilot obtained this revenge in a dogfight over New Guinea or the Solomons without any idea of the distinguished identity of his victim.

How Yamamoto's death will affect the quality of Japanese leadership is difficult to estimate. Probably it will lose something in resourcefulness and flexibility. However, individuals, even those of such unusual abilities as Yamamoto's, have relatively little influence in the Japanese high command, which has a machine-like quality even more than other general staffs.

All his plans and decisions were subject to review by the naval general staff, headed by Admiral Osami Nagano, and by Imperial headquarters.

He has been a sound, run of the mine admiral, noted for dogged tenacity rather than initiative. Perhaps that is what the Japanese Navy needs in the defensive campaigns ahead.

STOCK PRICES DRIFT LOWER

Timid Buying Largely Responsible for Today's Decline in Values.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21—Prices exhibited a generally lower drift in today's stock market although it was more of a question of buying timidity than selling urgency.

Wild cat walk-outs in the coal and motor fields continued to chill bullish sentiment to some extent and many potential purchasers seemed reluctant to bid because of the approach of the week-end. The war news was a sustaining influence.

Selected carrier bonds were in demand. Commodities were mixed.

On the downside most of the time were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Western Union, Nickel Plate Preferred, J. I. Case, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Du Pont and U. S. Rubber.

STRENGTH OF WHEAT MARKS GRAIN TRADE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 21 — Strength in May wheat featured an otherwise dull trade in grains today. While the May contract gained about a cent at times, other deliveries of the bread cereal were only a fractionally higher and rye and oats showed little change.

Buying of May wheat reflected some short-covering and purchasing of that contract against sales of deferred deliveries. Small local stocks of the bread cereal in trade hands and extremely light receipts were additional stimulating factors.

Many Programs To Stay On Through the Summer

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21 — From the way the schedule is shaping up, summer replacements for network shows will be fewer than usual.

Among those expected to go right ahead no matter what the temperature are Kate Smith, Kay Kyser, Cavalcade of America, Lucille Manners, Hit Parade, John Voorhees concert, Battle of the Sexes, the Garry Moore show, John Charles Thomas, Ginny Simms, Rudy Vallee, and March of Time. Bing Crosby, now vacationing and not to return until June 10, also is continuing.

At the same time replacements are getting lined up, one of the latest being Paul Whiteman's band and Dinah Shore for the Charlie (Bergen) McCarthy spot from June 13 until fall. Fred Allen is to begin his vacation June 27, a musical show to take over. A drama, "Those We Love," will be the Jack Benny substitute after May 30. The Fanny Brice-Frank Morgan program will take several weeks' vacation in midsummer without a replacement.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"OH, OF COURSE," Stephen Redfield answered promptly. But there was distinct uneasiness in the glance he sent me.

"You will please stay here, Katharine," I said. "Mr. Redfield can have nothing to tell me which you cannot hear. He should know that if it is anything which it is all right not to pass on to my father, you will keep his confidence as sacredly as I would—only there would be nothing "sacred" about my treatment of what he was going to tell me.

Withdraws His Objection

Steve's voice was suddenly ingratiating as he said, "Of course, I will withdraw my objection." Then a note, an intonation of whimsical reproach crept into his voice as he turned to me. "It used to be 'Steve'!" he said.

"Only occasionally," I said, "because you seemed so much younger than I. But I really prefer to address you more formally. I do not like to use first names except for my relatives and most intimate friends."

He made no further protest, but I wondered if he had guessed from my use of the phrasing "seemed so much younger," that I knew that the extremely juvenile-looking actor, was in reality nearer to my years than he was to Mary's.

Steve Asks a Question

I wasted no more time, but spoke quickly and decidedly. "Please sit down," I said, indicating a chair, while Katharine unobtrusively sat down in a far corner of the room. "I have very little time."

"It won't take long," he said. "It's simply this. I must ask this question, and you are the only one of whom I dare to ask it. I haven't seen Noel—since—since that time"—he had the grace to avert his eyes at the reference, "and I think I am in Mr. Veritzen's bad graces. I rarely see him, and he is very stand-offish when I do. And nobody else knows—"

"Will you kindly come to the point?" I asked impatiently.

"Well, then!" He drew a deep breath. "When is Mary coming back to the play?"

Toys with Truth

I toyed for a second with the idea of telling him the truth and saying tersely, "The minute you are out of it for good." But I sternly repressed that inclination, and answered, "I haven't the slightest idea."

There was consternation in his eyes. "She isn't getting better!" he said anxiously, but I knew that his anxiety had no root in any consideration for Mary's welfare.

"Oh, yes, she is getting better," I assured him. "But those sprains take time, you know, and I am sure it will be several weeks before the surgeon permits her to resume regular work."

"Oh," he said, and the exclamation was like a groan. "I don't see how I am going to endure it for several weeks longer!"

"Endure what?" I snapped, nearly at the end of my patience.

He rose and threw his arms out with a dramatic gesture.

"Endure Constance Bridgeman's trying to steal my scenes!" he declaimed.

Food Faddist Shown Up

WAR IS a realist. In the face of its cold, factual stare affectations and eccentricities fade away. Since I have lived through the last six months of rationing, I have learned never to believe a food faddist again. There are only two kinds—plain liars and gaudy liars.

Take the vegetarians. They would never touch meat. Man's digestive system was never made for meat. Besides meat is a poison, according to them. It brings on rheumatism, dimness of vision, lumbago, Bright's disease, high bolod pressure. Give them the wholesome vegetables and fruits of the earth. Nuts—nuts contain all the food elements. Let us live on nuts.

Well, to say the least, they have not made many converts to judge from the wail of agony that went up the last week in March when the country discovered it couldn't get but just a little meat. I saw one vegetarian—I will admit he has been a partial vegetarian; he was more of a preaching than a practicing vegetarian, but still a vegetarian—I saw him during that fateful last week of March, staggering from a butcher store, both arms clutched around enormous bundles, from the wrapped ends of which protruded what was unmistakably meat, his face bathed in honest sweat, his eyes bugged out with a fierce resolve to get his prizes home and in the icebox before someone beat him to it.

The coffee prohibition crank too. The male, or more often female, who did not believe in stimulants in any form. Their preachments got drowned out in the wail that went up when we began to get only one cup of coffee a day.

I will say this about the coffee faddist. I believe from experience since last November that the pleasures of coffee are largely gustatory and olfactory. There is a kind of coffee made of roasted barley that has been just as satisfactory to me as the real thing.

Even this is directly contradictory to the faddist's idea that coffee is habit-forming. I broke off without a qualm or a quiver. Nor have I noticed that I have slept any better since quitting coffee. But it must be admitted that there is one who is well acquainted with my habits who avers that I couldn't have slept any better than I did before, because my sleeping is calculated to make the seven gentlemen at Ephesus look like amateurs.

Man Carnivorous

The real facts about the food fads I have mentioned are that man's digestive tract is admirably adapted to meat eating, and that coffee is one of the best things a person from the age of 30 on can possibly use.

If a well-informed anatomist on Mars should fall heir to a human body for dissection, he would undoubtedly conclude that this was the structure of a carnivorous animal. The herbivorous animals, such as the rabbit, or cow, have an enormous length of intestine which is necessary for them to have enough absorptive surface to utilize their uneconomical type of food. This has shrunk in man to the little vermiform appendix.

And coffee increases the circulation of the blood through the heart and kidneys and brain, which is a help to those organs when they get to be over 50 years of age.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. V.: What is meant by the term "heart murmur"? What is caused by and is it dangerous in a 14-year-old child?

Answer: Heart murmurs in most instances are caused by defects in the valves of the heart so that the stream of blood either goes the wrong way or is obstructed in its flow. People go a great many years with a heart murmur without discomfort or serious impairment of their health.

P. K. E.:—What brings on a cystic ovary? Does it grow larger? Would medical treatment in a hospital take care of this?

Answer: A crystic ovary is a form of new growth. It tends always to get larger. Sometimes they reach enormous sizes. Medical treatment is of no avail. It is one of the triumphs of modern life that surgery is safe and effective in these cases.

F. G.:—I would like your opinion about low blood pressure, accompanied by slow and irregular pulse. Do you consider this serious?

Answer: I do not consider low blood pressure itself serious, but what you say about the irregular pulse gives another aspect to the question and perhaps indicates that you should consult a physician.

X.Y.Z.: Would it be harmful to the unborn child for an expectant mother to have one or two teeth filled?

Answer: No, and such care is extremely important to the future health of the mother.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, May 22

THE ASTRAL influences affecting the affairs of this day are rather adverse unless managed with good judgment. The danger may be from secret enmities reflecting on the good name. Duplicity of flagrant nature should be guarded against by alertness and precaution.

Those whose birthday it is may have a dubious year unless they are alert to pitfalls. Keep vigilant and shun all questionable entanglements. The love relations are particularly under this menace.

A child born on this day while having native shrewdness may be the victim of frauds, and sharpers, who may involve them in serious entanglements, reflecting on the character.
